

WEBINARS

SAMPLING SOUTHEAST ASIA: QUICK INSIGHTS INTO KEY REGIONAL MARKETS

Wednesday, Jul 1, 2026 | 10:00 AM - 11:00 AM
Registration: Thursday, Mar 19 - Wednesday, Jul 1, 2026
Riverside | United States of America

REGISTER NOW!

<https://wusata2.avibe-stag.com/e/AMV1LJK>

EVENT DETAILS

Presented by Bryant Christie Inc.,

This webinar is designed for exporters of food and specialty agricultural products based in the Western United States who are interested in exploring opportunities across Southeast Asia. The session will focus on five key markets-Vietnam, Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, and Singapore-highlighting important demographic trends, cultural considerations, and regulatory differences that shape how business is conducted in each country.

While Southeast Asia is often discussed as a single region, these markets differ significantly in consumer behavior, market maturity, import requirements, and distribution structures. This seminar will provide a concise comparative overview to help exporters better understand how each market operates and where opportunities may exist. By examining these markets side by side, participants will gain practical insights into the opportunities and challenges exporters face across the Southeast Asian region.

Detailed Webinar Overview:

1. Welcome and Opening Remarks
  - Introduction
  - Brief overview of objectives and what attendees can expect
2. Overview of Southeast Asia as a Regional Opportunity
  - Economic growth and population trends across the region
  - Rising middle-class consumers and expanding urban markets
  - Growing demand for imported food and agricultural products
3. Vietnam: A Rapidly Growing Consumer Market
  - Demographic trends and urbanization
  - Retail expansion and growing demand for imported foods
  - Key considerations for exporters entering the market
4. Thailand: Mature Retail and Strong Food Culture
  - Importance of tourism and foodservice demand
  - Developed retail sector and supermarket penetration
  - Opportunities for premium and specialty products
5. Indonesia: Southeast Asia's Largest Consumer Market
  - Large population and expanding middle class

- Cultural and geographic diversity across the archipelago
- Regulatory and distribution considerations

6. Malaysia: A Diverse and Import-Friendly Market

- Multicultural consumer base and dietary considerations
- Role of modern retail and strong import demand
- Halal certification considerations for exporters

7. Singapore: Regional Hub and Premium Market

- High purchasing power and sophisticated retail sector
- Role as a logistics and re-export hub for Southeast Asia
- Opportunities in premium retail and foodservice channels

8. Key Cultural and Regulatory Differences Across Markets

- Variations in labeling, import procedures, and product approvals
- Cultural influences on food consumption and purchasing behavior
- Why a one-size-fits-all regional strategy rarely works

9. Practical Exporter Considerations

- Prioritizing markets based on product fit
- Working with regional distributors and partners
- Planning market entry strategies across multiple countries

11. Q&A

- Open floor for participant questions

12. Closing Remarks & Next Steps

- Summary of key takeaways
- Upcoming WUSATA events
- Invitation to one-on-one consulting

Participants will be able to:

1. Understand the demographic and economic trends driving food demand in Southeast Asia.
2. Recognize key differences between Vietnam, Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, and Singapore.
3. Identify cultural factors that influence consumer preferences and purchasing behavior across the region.
4. Understand the regulatory and import requirement differences between Southeast Asian markets.
5. Recognize the role of Singapore and Malaysia as regional trade and distribution hubs.
6. Identify opportunities and challenges exporters may encounter when entering Southeast Asian markets.
7. Learn how to compare markets to determine where products may have the best fit.
8. Apply practical insights to develop an initial market exploration strategy for Southeast Asia.